Art Unit: 3617

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made
- 2. Claims 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lever et al. Lever et al disclose a method of inspecting an object (note page 12, line 61-page 13, line 35) using a system having at least one image recording means 100 mounted on a moving inspecting entity (diver), a storing unit (video tape), the camera is positioned in a contact free manner, and the image is connected to a drawing with a note (column 13, line 26). Not disclosed by Lever et al is a display unit and time index. It would have been an obvious choice of engineering design to form the video camera of Lever et al to have a time index and a display monitor for ease of viewing an playback.
- 3. Claim 13 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The limitations of claim 13 appear to be contained in last two lines of claim 12, from which it depends.
- 4. Claims 1-11 and 14-22 are allowed.
- 5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yoshida et al show a system. Comello et al show a device. Dahlin et al show a system. Murphy shows a system. Waag et al show a system.
